May God forbid our saying on this page the things that merely please. We would be humble in our opinions; we would be considerate of the opinions of others; but we would not be unimpaired of the immutable laws of cause and effect; for therein lies the wisdom of the ages.

YOUTH FACES THE FUTURE

It is related that at a dinner held in Pittsburgh to mark the retirement of a successful steel manufacturer, who had begun as a laborer at a dollar a day, was asked what he would like to be if his wish would be granted. Without hesitation he said, "Twenty-one and broke."

Undoubtedly everyone who has reached a ripe age wishes for youth again.

"Bliss it is in this dawn to be alive
But to be young is very Heaven."

Youth these days, however, has not the same opportunity, or at least opportunity on so wide a scale as was the case probably when this steel man was young. It may be that times will change and the willing hands of youth again be afforded chances to work and carve out a career. But the last six years have been unhappy times for the young people.

No one can look into the future. It is possible that a new golden age will open up bringing with it miracles of invention, and growth of knowledge, triumphs of good over evil and of truth over error. The elder men of today dream of "such things to be" but to the young belongs the adventure of experiencing them.

Youth must learn, however, that happiness is a nebulous thing, that it rests more with a contented mind than with great possessions, and that it does not lead readily into the lot of human beings to be completely contented. Ability to get work and to do work, earnestness of acquiring true knowledge, training that will teach one to appreciate the beauties of Nature, the charm of friendship, the keen delight of music, the comfort of religion—all must be achieved if a rounded life is desired.

Feverish and ruthless activity to gain wealth and possessions, callousness towards fellow humans, lack of culture—all tend towards a dwarfed, unsatisfactory and unhappy life.

Youth is with us but once and it is the determining time, the building period, when the course which will be followed throughout life is cast. Some will progress further than others but the majority can so plan their lives as to be reasonably contented and happy.

TURKEY-RAISERS, READ!

The latest word from the great turkey markets in Great Britain, the United States and Eastern Canada is that a change in shape is wanted by housewives.

The shortage of homes and the popularity of apartments fitted with tiny stoves make it impossible to roast the huge birds which have been so popular in the past.

So turkey raisers are now advised to develop a low-hung, streamlined bird, somewhat of the build of a duck. Short legs, deep chests, and broad backs are now the requisites of the popular turkey in the great markets of the world.

Of course the build and shape of turkeys cannot be changed overnight, but changed they will be in the course of time. Either that or the people will go in for some other kind of edible in the way of fowl.

Australian breeders have already started in "re-making" turkeys and the new design is expected to be on the assembly line before long. Canadians cannot afford to be far behind the "Aussies" in this respect if they are to get a goodly share of the British turkey market.

A LOSS TO ALBERTA

The University of Alberta has lost its president for eight years—Dr. R. C. Wallace. To replace him with a man of equal calibre will be no small task. Men of such calibre are not picked up every year.

Dr. Wallace goes to the presidency of Queen's University, Kingston, that old Presbyterian institution has shown shrewdness in its selection. Dr. Wallace specializes in geology, chemistry and mathematics. Queen's goes in strong for mining courses. Search the Americas over and they could not have made a better appointment.

"What's Alberta's loss is Queen's gain" in the words usually attributed to weekly newspapers. But it is more than that—it is Alberta's tragedy. The young university which has been tenderly and carefully cultivated by this province is at a critical stage in its career. It has made splendid progress since its foundation but hard times have hit it heavily and there has been heavy curtailment of expenditures. Alberta University needed Dr. Wallace badly.

Universities are not built in a day. It takes generations to bring such institutions to the flowering period. In infancy they must be carefully nurtured, and wisely administered. It would be unfortunate at this stage if the University of Alberta was to be hindered or handicapped in its progress.

Dr. Wallace, a native of the Orkney Islands and had a brilliant career as a student in Edinburgh University in Scotland and Göttingen in Germany. He subsequently was appointed professor of geology in Manitoba university and eight years ago came to Alberta. He brought the message of the university to the common people of the province in a way that has never been done before and he created a standing for the Alberta institution that was the envy of its neighbors in the west.

INTERNATIONAL FINANCE

The ways of international finance are beyond understanding.

While Britain and Italy are at loggerheads over the Ethiopian campaign, which resulted in the subjugation of the last free nation in Africa, plans are under way for the provision of a large loan of money to Italy by British banks.

This money will be used to develop the country Italy conquered despite British opposition.

Italy is terribly hard-up after the costly war. Mussolini must get money from somewhere. Britain has the money and rather than see it Duce run amok to a still greater degree is contented to loan it to Italy. Provisions and guarantees will be set up, of course, to protect British rights in north-east Africa.

During the Napoleonic wars the French emperor obtained cash through the tacit consent of his enemies, the deals being arranged by international bankers. Spain paid a huge annual indemnity to France in silver carried from Mexico to Britain, Napoleon and Germany—all enemies of Napoleon.

Conductor: Nope, we need one more jackass; come on in.

THE RAIN

A news despatch from southern Brazil told of record downpours of rain which lasted for three weeks steady, destroying crops and flooding the country. But here is a land acknowledged to be "sub-normal" in rainfall, the pleasant patter of falling raindrops is sweet music to the ear.

Rain means good crops and every school child knows what good crops mean. Without abundant crops poverty and despair becloud the land, business dwindles and unsatisfied wants accrue. Crops are the main source of Alberta's wealth and when that source fails there is little wealth for anyone.

So the rains are always welcome in southern Alberta. Everyone is joyous and exhilarated when the heavens open and the land is drenched. The prairies turn green and tiny, inconspicuous flowers open delicate buds. Trees and gardens take on a freshness and vitality. The whole country experiences a major miracle.

Edna Jacques, the poet of the prairies, expresses the prayer of the people of the southern plains so well it is worth re-copying: "Their hearts are sick;

Too long they've waged their bitter war in vain

Against the wind and drouth—Oh, grant them now

The healing of the rain.

Oh, may their fields
Be clothed in green—their pastures cool and sweet.

May gentle skies bend over them— and peace
Reign there above their wheat."

THE "HAREM" BATHING SUIT

How times have changed! The description of "the harem" hold, daring bathing suit, published 25 years ago in the Ottawa Journal would only excite comment today that the wearer was dressed for winter or for a polar expedition. There was a sweater of blue wool, fitting closely about the neck, and extending below the waist, elbow length sleeves. With it went full trousers of blue and white striped silk reaching below the knees. Collar and cuffs on the sweater were of the same material. Long black stockings and a silk cap completed the outfit. — St. Catharines Standard.

DO OR DIE!

Up our way seedling operations have been carried out to an extent never witnessed before.

A great many farmers have showed every able action to get the land reserved for summerfallow throughout the district will not be more than 25 per cent of normal.

This is not good business, but since the operations were carried out with the hope of taking many out of grave financial difficulties, one can only sympathize with them and trust that Dame Fortune will be exceedingly kind to all.

THOSE WHO LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES . . .

While the financial wizards are still counting Mr. C.P.R. about his so-called repudiation of bond payments, it is well to remember that those gentlemen have their own peculiar way of doing things.

A month ago the representative of a large institution invited a farmer to sign a statement wherein the latter's property showed a depreciation of 50 per cent in value.

When the farmer asked what would happen if he refused to sign, he received the significant reply, "Your note will not be returned."

PHEASANTS ARE DOING WELL.

All who are interested in the ring-necked pheasants will be glad to learn of the welfare of these useful and beautiful birds. During the month of February there were expressed that they would not survive the severe weather and scarcity of food. Fortunately they proved harder than expected and came through the ordeal in fairly good condition. For a number of years the flock-necked pheasant has been scarce in this country. It is now being raised in large numbers and is being exported to various parts of the world. In this respect give them all the protection you can.

They are not a bit destructive and when they become used to the folks around, their cheerful ways add to the simple pleasures of life.

BY WAY OF CONTRAST

For shooting his wit and wisdom through the air a well-known radio star is said to reach the end of each 30 minutes broadcast.

Now here is another slant on life's funny ways which may help to convince you that the gift of the gab brings more coin of the realm with it in your reach than the manly qualities of strength and courage. Quite recently a sturdy Canadian boy risked his life to help three men from a dangerous predicament.

When the deed was done one of the party offered the rescuer a one-dollar bill.

SCRATCH MY BACK AND . . .

As we write by the side of the kitchen window, a pair of old horses are standing near the fence scratching each other's backs in a lusty fashion.

As every lady knows, men also engage in this pastime.

Of course they do it in a more dignified way than their four-legged servants, and a notable example of this was presented to the world soon after the annexation of Ethiopia by the Italians.

Mussolini proclaimed the Italian king emperor of the conquered territory, and it Duce, in turn, was given a high-sounding title. Doubtless this form of scratching will continue until one of the pair gets a bit rough.

Then, like the old sage, they'll take to biting and kicking and thereby end the fun.

BEAUTY ON TRIAL

At the hour of writing something resembling a beauty contest is going on at Ottawa, with the two lady M.P.'s acting as judges.

Isn't it nice to see our hard-working law-makers hang out a little leaven at this stage of the session?

The muscles of their tongues must be awfully tired now and, thank goodness, many Canadians are getting amusement from a most unexpected source.

Marie after the winner has been declared the whole gang will feel so refreshed that the country's problems will be tackled in a bolder and more resourceful spirit than formerly. Such a reversal of fortune could enable us to "describe them as 'very handsome blokes'."

MI 31 TOOTH PASTE at night removes stains and neutralizes acids that may cause decay. MI 31 TOOTH POWDER with Sodium Peroxide in the morning removes tartar that forms overnight. The Sodium Peroxide liberates oxygen, thereby assisting in the healing of injured or diseased gums and mouth tissues. Is highly recommended as a nicotine stain remover and especially invaluable as a smoker's tooth powder.
